CO-SPONSOR AND SUPPORT THE EMERGENCY BROADBAND CONNECTIONS ACT

Affordable Broadband is Essential for Public Health, Economic Security, and Education

Dear Senators:

On behalf of The Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights, a coalition of more than 220 national organizations to promote and protect the civil and human rights of all persons in the United States, and the undersigned organizations, we write to urge you to co-sponsor and support the Emergency Broadband Connections Act (EBCA), the companion measure to H.R. 6881, and the emergency broadband provisions of the HEROES Act. Even as some states re-open, nearly all people in the nation—from seniors to children—must continue to rely on broadband to work, learn, and meet daily needs as they continue to social distance. The need for connectivity across the country, including in the U.S. territories, has never been greater, exacerbating the consequences of the existing digital divide. Moreover, with many companies ending their commitment to the Federal Communications Commission's Keep Americans Connected Pledge as of June 30, 2020, fewer people will be able to afford broadband during this public health and economic crisis.

Affordable broadband is critical to:

- Provide telehealth for everyone – particularly seniors and veterans. Patients and people with disabilities must have a reliable broadband service at home to take advantage of remote health care and the additional authorization for telehealth in the CARES Act.
- Ensure a more rapid end to the COVID-19 emergency. Broadband enables all people in the United States to comply more easily with national social distancing guidelines and local orders, which will mean a faster end to the outbreak.
- Economic security. As we attempt to rebuild our economy, workers and small business owners need a quality broadband service to safely work from home, serve their customers remotely or apply for emergency benefits.
- Fill the “homework gap.” This fall, students are still likely, at best, to blend at-home and in-class learning. To be effective, high-speed broadband at home must meet the needs of a whole family and withstand intensive network use.

We strongly support the EBCA's provisions that:

- 1) Authorize $8.8 billion in order to guarantee a $50 emergency broadband benefit ($75 in tribal areas) to every eligible low-income household in the country that makes a request to their Internet Service Provider (ISP) and to offer a one-time discount for ISP-provided devices.
- 2) Provide benefits to households within 135 percent of the federal poverty guideline, recently laid off, furloughed, applied for or approved for state unemployment insurance, participate in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Medicaid, National School Lunch (NSL), Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Federal Public Housing Assistance (FPHA), the Veterans Pension and Survivors Benefit, or receive Federal Pell Grants.

- 3) Improve the existing Federal Communications Commission's low-income Lifeline program to offer unlimited voice minutes and texting.

Even as some states re-open, the nation is seeing increased infection rates, continued need for older and immune-compromised people to remain at home, and continued widespread reliance on tele-education, tele-health and tele-work—all demonstrating the need for affordable broadband. We strongly urge Senators to ensure that the next COVID-19 legislation addresses this critical need and includes an appropriation of the full authorized amounts.

Thank you for your consideration of our views. If you have any questions about the issues raised in this letter, please feel free to contact Media/Telecommunications Task Force Co-Chairs Cheryl Leanza, United Church of Christ, Office of Communication, Inc., at cleanza@alhmail.com, and Kate Ruane, American Civil Liberties Union, at kruane@aclu.org, or Corrine Yu, Leadership Conference Senior Program Director, at yu@civilrights.org.
